A-CERO: JOAQUIN TORRES & RAFAEL LLAMAZARES

Joaquín Torres: "Modern architecture is my language"

Joaquín Torres, founder of the A-cero studio, is one of the Spanish architects with the most extensive international exposure. In Oasis 325, he reinterprets the minimalist trend to offer an architecture that is very much in tune with his usual harmonious style. The purity of the lines and the aesthetic quality of the interiors are the result of a perfect balance between form and function. Similarly, the integration of landscape and the inclusion of nature as a key element characterise the identity of a unique project in the Spanish residential context.
